

identified by observed prices inherited or assumed model output